

On the Cover

One of the original First District A&M School buildings, Georgia Southern's Administration Building initially held classrooms and offices when the school opened in 1908. The Administration Building was eventually named to honor Marvin S. Pittman, the University's president from 1934 to 1941 and 1943 to 1947. The Marvin S. Pittman Administration Building currently houses offices for the University President and other top administrative offices.