Project Request: IPEDS First-time Freshman Six Year Graduation Rate by Georgia Southern College.

Requested by: Dr. Jayne Perkins Brown, Associate Vice President, Strategic Research and Analysis

Project Abstract: Data were requested on the six year graduation rate of the Fall 1997, 1998, 1999, and 2000 IPEDS First Time Freshman Cohorts by Georgia Southern College. This report was done in place of the Report Card Review data.

Methodology: The first-time freshman cohorts and their six year graduation rates are reported in the IPEDS Graduation Rate Surveys (GRS-1). The data tables created for that reporting were used so as to be consistent with graduation rates already reported and to avoid the duplication of effort in regenerating those numbers. It was only necessary to add the data elements of college, major and learning support status to this pre-existing data. Those data elements are not included in the IPEDS GRS-1 reporting. The Student Information Reporting System (SIRS) was the original source for identifying the cohorts, their graduation rates, and all other data elements present. The exception is college and major which were from the Data Warehouse Enrollment tables (YEN). Those fields are not in SIRS. College and major are as of graduation or last enrollment for those who did not graduate within the six years with an undergraduate degree from Georgia Southern University. College and major of undergraduate degree reported are based on the degree with the lowest sequence number (in Banner) where a student receives dual degrees.

Note: The IPEDS First Time Freshman cohorts as used in this report are full-time, degree-seeking undergraduates who enter college for the first time in fall term or who have graduated from high school within the same calendar year of that fall term. First time summer students are also included if they are enrolled in the fall term.
